KING PLEDGES PEACE EFFORT

Edward Opens British Parliament With Olive Branch Offer to Armed European Camps

WILL GO TO INDIA IN MAY

Coronation in London To Be Followed by Imperial Rites in Distant Possession

By The Associated Press

LONDON Nov 3—King Edward today pledged his nation to do all in its power to further the appeasement of Europe

Standing in front of the throne in the house of lords garbed in the heavy state robes of gold-edged crimson velvet the 42-year-old bachelor monarch made this significant plea for peace to the bristling armed camps of troubled Europe

The new sovereign opening the first session of parliament in his reign announced that after the coronation in London next May he would go to India to be crowned emperor

He also called an imperial conference to meet in London next May

The state opening was robbed of part of its brilliance by a heavy rain which forced cancellation of the scheduled procession from Buckingham palace

Thousands of his subjects jamming the mall and the horse guards parade in Whitehall stood in the driving rain to catch a fleeting glimpse of Edward as he passed in a closed motor car

It was an uncrowned king who opened parliament He is not authorized to wear the imperial crown until after the coronation May 5

King Edward in a firm resonant voice launched into the reading of his address from the throne after first affirming his solemn declaration of Protestant faith

Wedding Britain to the task of placating Europe Edward said the nation would persist in efforts to bring about a meeting of the Locarno powers and expressed the hope that the London naval agreement of March 25 would become the basis of international agreement to which all naval powers will eventually become parties

New High Voting Record in Making as State and County Flock to Polls

Rain, Snow and Colder Weather Fail To Affect Parade of Citizens.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Nov 3—Ohio's electorate swamped polling places in record numbers today to vote on the administration of federal state and county government

Rain snow flurries and colder weather had no apparent affect on what George Neffner state election expert predicted would be the largest election in Ohio's history

The weather seems to be encouraging activity said Neffner who estimated 2 600 000 would cast ballots before the 8 600 polling districts close at 6 30 p m The record vote is 2 644 501 cast in the 1932 presidential election

Await Poll Opening

Thousands of persons were ready to cast their ballots when the voting places opened at 6 30 a. m

James Welker and Herman Kleinberg election inspectors were sent to Cuyahoga county by the secretary of state's office as observers Secretary of State George S Myers said however he did not anticipate any disorders

Early voting in Cuyahoga county indicated that 455 000 to 460 000 persons would declare their choice of officials from President to county coroner This was expected to be about 80 000 more than in 1932

During the first three hours in Cincinnati about a fifth of the 267 000 registered voters had marked their ballots It was the heaviest voting in the city's history

Franklin county (Columbus) election board officials estimated that 45 000 persons had visited the polls by 10 a m They anticipated a total vote of 160 000 The record is 132 000 set in 1932

Voting Fast

Precinct officials reported that the voting was unusually fast due to the extra facilities provided by the state in anticipation of the record turn out

Minor complaints came from both Columbus and Akron but these were being adjusted by local election boards

State employes got off work at noon under a state law making general election days a half holiday

Voters held the answer to the question Who gets Ohio's important 26 electoral votes for President—President Franklin D Roosevelt Gov Alf M Landon of Kansas or Rep William Lemke of North Dakota, candidate of the new Union party or Earl Browder Communist party nominee?

They held the answer to the question Who gets Ohio's highest office—Gov Martin L. Davey for another two years or Atty Gen John W Bricker? They represented the Democratic and Republican parties respectively while Andrew R Onda Communist, also bid for support

To Pick Congressmen

They held the answer to countless other questions— Who will represent Ohio in congress who will go to the state legislature who will be the county coroner next year what about local option?

Seasoned observers declared the Roosevelt-Landon battle was the peak in intensity since the McKinley Bryan battle of 1896 when the silver tongued orator made the cross of gold" the issue

The Davey Bricker battle approached the presidential in inten

BUCYRUS EXECUTIVE ON NEW FOUNDATION

The incorporators were Charles F Kettering of Dayton president of the General Motors Research Corp James R Lincoln of Cleveland president of the Lincoln Electric Co Charles E MacQuigg metallurgical engineer and manager of the Union Carbide and Carbon Research laboratories, Long Island N Y, Julius F Stone chairman of the university board of trustees and Charles F Michael of Bucyrus, president of the Ohio Locomotive Crane Co and of the Ohio Manufacturers association.

Early Morning Vote Here Seen as Indication of New County Record.

In a morning turnout unprecedented in the history of the county voters stood in line at dozens of precincts piling up what county election officials predict will be an all time record vote

On the basis of a survey of 10 scattered precincts made at noon today by The Star election officials estimated the city vote will reach approximately 14 700 If the rural vote maintains the same proportion to the city vote as in the 1932 presidential election it is expected the county's total vote will soar close to 24 000 as compared with 19 558 in the 1932 presidential election

Election officials based their estimates on the city vote on the theory that half of the day's balloting had been finished at noon Ordinarily they estimate that one third of the day's total vote will be in at noon but this year they pointed out that tremendous response to the vote early appeal will alter the previous basis of estimating the day's turnout

The Star's checkup showed that 2 467 votes had been cast in the 10 precincts survey at noon This represented an average of 246 votes for each of the 10 precincts Application of this average to the 30 precincts in the city led election officials to estimate that 7 401 ballots had been cast throughout the city at noon If this figures represented 50 per cent of the day's turnout, the total will be 14 802 they pointed out

If the proportion of city and rural votes in the county in the 1932 election is maintained today the rural turnout will be around the 8 500 mark as compared with approximately 7 000 in 1932

In some precincts the judges and clerks were so busy they did not have time this morning to count their absent voters ballots which ordinarily are counted first In precinct B of the First ward one of the largest in the city 317 votes had been cast at noon The registration for the precinct is slightly over 600

In the sheriff's office where residents of the south precinct of Marion township vote the rush was so great this morning that an addi

Patrol Officer Discusses State Traffic Rules

Traffic laws of the state of Ohio were clarified for nearly 100 motorists of Marion city and county last night by Sergeant S D Augenstein of Findlay in charge of all the uniformed state highway patrolmen of the 22 counties of District A Speaking at the third regular class of the Junior Chamber of Commerce drivers school he explained and discussed in rapid fire order virtually every rule in the Ohio traffic code

Starting with the fundamental rules such as stay on the right side of the road and always give the man coming from your right the right of way Sergeant Augenstein advanced to such technical points as illegal stop signs and legal emergencies

Illegal Lights

The bugbear of many highway users the stop light in the cross roads village is in many instances illegal he said

All towns and municipalities of less than 7 000 inhabitants must obtain a permit from the state highway director before they can put up a light And if you don't see the little license tag on the small town light it means the light is illegal

A student asked the question What recourse in law have I if I am arrested and fined for crashing one of these lig

I M Kratzer patrolman in charge of the Marion sub station of the state police who was in charge of last night's class and who brought Sergeant Augenstein here answered that the arrest would be illegal and that suit probably could be started for false arrest He explained that many small towns set up lights on main highways as a racket and manage to raise considerable revenue from trapping unwary motorists

PARADE OF VOTERS MASSES AT POLLS IN RAINY WEATHER

Conclusive Returns Likely to Be Late Due to Huge Outpour of Citizens; Landon and Family Vote.

By The Associated Press

INDEPENDENCE, Kas, Nov 3—Gov Alf M Landon and his wife and father joined America's voting millions today in the ballot marking that spells victory or defeat in his campaign for the presidency

Gov Landon voted in his home precinct here at 8 40 a m

A home town welcome preceded the Republican nominee's stamping of a Republican ballot in a voting booth three blocks from the white frame house that has been his home for 32 years

Family With Him

The governor Mrs Landon his daughter Peggy Anne 10 and his father John M Landon arrived here on the presidential candidate's special train from Topeka at 8 a. m

Mayor Mitchell had said he would present the governor a silk topper

Roosevelt Family Casts Its Votes

By The Associated Press

HYDE PARK N Y Nov 3—President Roosevelt and eight members and friends of his family cast their votes shortly before noon today in a little green and white town hall in this village's first election district

The President wearing a gray suit and blue tie covered with white donkey designs walked into the hall on the arm of his third son Franklin Jr He also wore Andrew Jackson's heavy gold watch chain a gift in the last few days

312th in District

He was the 312th to vote in his district which has 768 registrants

Motion picture and still photographers recorded the scene

Following the President and Franklin to the green-curtained voting booth were Mrs James Roosevelt Sr the President's mother Mrs Franklin D Roosevelt Mr and Mrs John Boettiger son in law and daughter Miss Nancy Cooke friend of the family, Mrs Malvina Scheider secretary to the President's wife and Miss Marguerite Lehand Mr Roosevelt's personal secretary

The President walked up first to James Finch election inspector

Name please? Finch asked in a loud voice

'Franklin D Roosevelt, was the softer reply

Then Miss Alma Van Curran, another inspector confirmed the President's registration

Poses for Pictures

After voting the chief executive posed for more pictures as he enrolled for the next Democratic primary

President Roosevelt went before the electorate expressing confidence the people would return the new deal to Washington and declaring he feared neither the 'threats of demagogues" nor the ambitions of dictators"

Tonight, in a first floor dining room of his mother's stone and stucco house he will receive the election returns over wires set up in an adjoining study Half a dozen White House aids will carry

By The Associated Press

Amid increasing portents of a record shattering vote despite rainy weather the nation scanned today the mixed trends of early returns from a hard fought Roosevelt vs. Landon election contest.

Running according to pre-ballot forecasts Franklin D Roosevelt piled up a mounting lead in the solid south In New England Alf M Landon held onto a margin of two score votes all of them cast and counted before breakfast time Conclusive returns for the nation were expected to be late due to the heavy voting

In other sections there was seesawing with the Democratic nominee most frequently ahead on the basis of scattered returns that totalled only a tiny fraction of the 45 000 000 figure predicted by some as the possible 1936 vote total

In Landon's home state of Kansas an incomplete vote from 126 precincts out of 2 690 gave Roosevelt 2 718 to 2 133 for the Republican nominee Fifteen Topeka precincts gave Landon a 675 to 515 advantage

Roosevelt in Lead

In West Virginia incomplete returns from 30 of Huntington's precincts gave the Democratic standard bearer 1 026 votes as against 1 176 for Landon

Few reports of disorders at the polls were heard across the nation up to mid afternoon In one of the few instances an election officer was shot and critically wounded at McRoberts in the eastern Kentucky mountains.

From New England where citizens of one little town finished casting their ballots before 1 a m, to the far west which will be voting until 11 p m (eastern standard time) tonight all indications pointed to a record smashing avalanche of votes

The earliest bird among the voting units was Millsfield N H, which announced the following tally Alf M Landon 5 Franklin D Roosevelt 2

Within a few hours three other New England village precincts came in to make the first total of the 1936 election Landon 82 Roosevelt 42

Texas Reverses Picture

Quickly however five small Houston Texas precincts were reported giving Roosevelt 1.8 and Landon 21 Thus before part of the nation was awake and hardly any part of it settled down for the day the battle was on in earnest

The first fragments from New England showed that President Roosevelt had made tiny gains over the early bird votes cast for him in 1932 In New Ashford Mass the count was 26 to 18 for Landon today as against 24 to 8 for Herbert Hoover in 1932 In Tolland, Mass however Landon led 44 to 21 as against 39 to 22 for Hoover in 1932

With the Roosevelt forces claiming an unbroken front in the solid south these claims were not shaken by the first tiny community in that section to complete its count. Martin Station Ala. gave Roosevelt 11 Landon 0

Outcome Due Late

But with 55 427,000 voters registered and the nation's interest whipped up by a tense months long campaign that ended only last night with 11th hour appeals by President Roosevelt and Gov Landon, the experts warned that conclusive returns may be much later than usual They cited the mountainous stacks of ballots in prospect, and the fact that New York which usually goes as the country goes and formerly has cleaned up its tally early, has extended the poll-closing time three hours from 6 to 9 p m., eastern standard time

All Nominees Home

All the nominees were on home ground for the ceremony of entering the polling booths amid the clicking of photographers' shutters President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, Gov Landon at Independence Kas, after an over-night

NATIONAL, STATE OFFICES AT STAKE

By The Associated Press

Offices at stake in today's 38th national election — president vice president, 35 United States senators 432 house members 33 governors, many lesser state officials

Time polls close Varies with the states Some polling units close when last registered voter casts ballot Millsfield N H closed polls before 1 a. m today Far northwest they will remain open until 11 p m eastern standard time

Probable time of conclusive count May be unusually late this year because of huge vote Important New York count may not be announced until around mid night, eastern standard time because of three-hour extension of poll closing time

Probable vote May reach 45-000 000 on basis of registrations

100 Lutherans from Marion and Vicinity Attend Institute.

The Book of Luke was the topic of study last night at the Marion Lutheran Sunday School Teachers' institute held at the Emanuel Lutheran church with approximately 100 residents of Marion and vicinity present.

Dr. G. C. Gast of Capital university in Columbus, who is conducting the institute, said that Luke was a Gentile, a native of Antioch in Syria and that he was a physician and well educated. The book was written before 70 A. D., probably about 68 A. D., after Paul's death at Rome, and was addressed to the most excellent Theophilus.

"We do not know who this man was, but he must have been a prominent or a rich man who lived either at Antioch or at Rome," Dr. Gast said. "Luke wrote for this man and for men like him, for Gentile Greeks, to show that Jesus is the Savior of all mankind and that the Gospel is intended for all people."

Among the distinctive features of the book pointed out by Dr. Gast are the numerous references to contemporary history, the preservation of the words for the grandest hymns of the church, several parables and miracles which are not found elsewhere, many references to women, and the fact that it says more about prayer and shows Jesus praying oftener than the other writers.

"Ave Maria," "The Magnificat," "Gloria in excelsis," "The Angels' Song" and "Nunc dimittis" are among the hymns mentioned by Dr. Gast in connection with his reference to the book.

Galion Minister Speaks

Rev. J. E. Albrecht of Galion, in a brief talk on the lesson plan or outline in teaching a Sunday school lesson, said in part: "The teachers, 'the spiritual builders,' task is to build into the pupil's mind and soul the central thought and divine truth of that portion of the Word that is placed before him in the lesson and do it in the time allotted by the lesson period. To accomplish this task effectively, two things are necessary: Namely, preparation and planning or outlining. By preparation I mean that the teacher must make himself thoroughly acquainted with the material placed before him in the lesson....Select a central thought from out of the lesson text, one that adopts itself to the age and the need of the class and let your aim be to get this into the pupil. Then select a subject that will serve as a directive for the pupils. Select some way of approach, of preparing and leading the mind of the pupil into the subject. Arrange your lesson material in line with your central thought logically, chronologically and psychologically. If you have succeeded in arrangement of the material in line with your central thought and all related thoughts you will not need to worry about outlining or planning."

Rev. Schillinger's Address

A devotional address by Rev. J. W. Schillinger, pastor of Emanuel church, on "He Is My Life," was in part as follows: "The true Christian earnestly desires to lead a holy life. He can not be satisfied unless he is living in perfect holiness. Sin makes him unhappy. He knows that it cuts him off from God and brings God's curse upon him. Sin destroys peace of conscience for him; it destroys peace with God. Sin brings him a life of wretchedness in this world, and he knows that it will lead him down to eternal wretchedness. Hence the true Christian can not be satisfied with anything short of getting rid of sin entirely....I beg you: Do not try to attain to any holiness of life apart from Christ. If you do so, you will meet with failure; disappointment will come upon you which will drive you to despair. The Savior says, 'Without me, ye can do nothing.' And do not try to produce any holiness in the members of your classes apart from Christ. No moral or ethical teaching apart from Christ will amount to anything here. It will be worse than nothing. It may make hypocrites out of your boys and girls; and some day when they are disillusioned they will be crushed with the disappointment. Hold Christ always before them."

HAMILTON, O., Nov. 3—Shortly before he was to have started work as a Democratic ward checker in today's election, Fred Bruck, 56, shot himself through the heart.

THEY STUNNED THE 400

William Rhinelander Stewart, for some years considered the richest and most eligible bachelor of New York's upper crust, was married quietly to the former Mrs. Newbold Ryan, shown with him in this picture. Predictions that the couple would wed were met with strenuous denials from both. Stewart is one of New York's wealthiest bluebloods.

train ride from Topeka; Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential nominee, at Chicago; Vice President Garner, Democratic nominee for reelection at Uvalde, Tex., and the other candidates at their respective home towns.

Last night they said their final pre-election words. Mr. Roosevelt, speaking from Hyde Park by radio, told his listeners they should not be "afraid to vote as you think best for the kind of a world you want to have."

He was joined in his remarks to the nation by Sen. Wagner, Democrat of New York, who said the voters would "indignantly repudiate" the pay-envelope campaign against the social security act. Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley and Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant, spoke on the same program.

Gov. Ladnon, in his final speech form Topeka, urged the voters to go to the polls "resolved that the American way of life shall not fail."

Knox-Hamilton Speak

Other speakers on this Republican program were Col. Knox, who attacked the new deal social security program as inequitable and a plan threatening to put workers under the surveillance of "government spies"; Republican Chairman John D. M. Hamilton and William Hutcheson, labor leader.

Even as the citizens operated the levers of voting machines and marked their ballots, the high commands of both major parties continued to predict victory. Thanking President Roosevelt's supporters as "patriotic soldiers in a conquering army," Democratic Chairman Farley forecast an overwhelming triumph. Only Maine and Vermont were omitted from the states counted "sure" for the new deal in Farley's latest estimates.

On the other hand, Republican Chairman Hamilton announced that his recent prediction of "at least 320 electoral votes" for Landon (with only 266 being necessary to elect) had brought him a flood of protests that he was "too conservative." He said the "rising tide" for Landon had swept on in an unprecedented way.

Herbert Hoover joined in predicting Republican victory, while Hugh S. Johnson forecast "the ashcan" for Landon.

With both sides making tremendous efforts to get out the vote, opposing captains of campaign forces watched each other's tactics warily. Warnings of prosecution for any voting frauds were heard.

Send Troops to Polls

In New Mexico, Democratic Gov. Clyde Tingley announced national guardsmen had been ordered into San Miguel county. He said the aim was to "insure the voters an honest election," while George R. Craig, Republican state chairman, declared the object was to "intimidate voters."

Relaxing from weeks of active campaigning, minor party nominees watched for the returns with interest. Rep. William Lemke, Union party, wound up his drive in his home state of North Dakota last night with an assertion he had voted in congress "100 per cent for the people and against Wall Street on every issue."

Lemke had contended that neither major party would get a majority of the total electoral vote of 531 and that the election thus would be thrown into the house of representatives, where he said he would win.

Appealing for Socialist votes, Norman Thomas declared that the old parties had demonstrated "misunderstanding or contempt for real democracy," and that the "campaign in general has been on a disgracefully low level."

Before a cheering, whistling throng in New York, Earl Browder, Communist, assailed what he termed "the camp of reaction and fascism around Landon and the Republican banner" and foresaw a strong national Farmer-Labor party.

bulletins to him as he sits at a large oval table ready to chart the trend and to compare results with his own advance predictions.

In closing his campaign last night, the chief executive told a nationwide radio audience from his study that because the mind of the American citizen had been "sharpened" by the exercise of freedom he had "no fear—either of the threats of demagogues or the ambitions of dictators."

"Neither can get far nor long thrive among a people who have learned to think for themselves and who have the courage to act as they think," he asserted.

He added that "we are all equals" at the polling booth and continued:

"No one will fire you because you vote contrary to his wishes or instructions. No one will know how you vote. And don't let anyone intimidate you or coerce you by telling you otherwise."

Declaring 55,000,000 Americans were eligible to vote today, he expressed the hope that "all of those 55,000,000 will vote."

Americans have had to put up with a good many things in the course of history, he continued, "but the only rule we have ever put up with is the rule of the majority. That is the only rule we ever will put up with. Spelled with a small "d" we are all democrats."

Sees Will of Majority

Earlier, in an informal address to several thousand Poughkeepsie neighbors massed in Market street below his hotel balcony rostrum, the President said that because of the majority rule, in contrast to the days when only property owners and men were allowed to vote, the returns tonight would constitute "definitely, clearly and conclusively the will of the majority."

Before entering a hotel for his first speech of the evening, Mr. Roosevelt was represented by aids as feeling certain the American people would give him a vote of confidence at the ballot box.

Addressing the street audience as "my friends of Poughkeepsie," after a brief introduction by John E. Mack, local attorney who had placed him in nomination twice for the presidency, Mr. Roosevelt said a millenium or Utopia could not be reached in four or eight years, but at least the people in responsible positions "ought to start the ball rolling in a perfectly normal, sane, sensible way" to provide security for the people.

POSTAL RECEIPTS CONTINUE TO GAIN

An increase of $1,903.06 over the corresponding month last year, was reported in the postal receipts for October at the Marion postoffice. Receipts for the month amounted to $13,220.35, a gain of 16.8 per cent over last year's figures which were $11,317.29, Postmaster L. L. Lamborn's report shows.

Of the 1936 receipts for the month $11,381.10 was received for stamp sales, $3.65 for excess on stamped paper, $205.50 for second class matter, $1,313.50 for permit matter, 36 cents miscellaneous, $306.02 box rent, and $10 nonmetered application.

A general improvement in business throughout the country is responsible for the increase Postmaster Lamborn stated.

NEW HAMPSHIRE TOWN FIRST TO ISSUE RETURNS

By The Associated Press

MILLSFIELD, N. H., Nov. 3—This tiny northwestern New Hampshire community, voting as a town for the first time, snatched the title of "first in the nation" today from New Ashford, Mass.

By lamplight, in a small tarpaper roofed building used as temporary town hall, five votes were cast for Gov. Alf M. Landon for president and two for President Roosevelt.

Five hours later and only a few minutes before the New Ashford vote was announced Somerset, Vt., in the lumber region of former President Calvin Coolidge's native state, cast its seven votes for the Kansas governor. No Democratic vote was cast.

New Ashford, preparing weeks in advance to maintain a record first established in 1916, announced it had given the Republican standard bearer 26 votes and President Roosevelt 13.

Town officials, when they learned two other towns had beaten them, pointed out that Massachusetts law forebade opening of the polls until 5:45 a. m. New Hampshire says only that the polls can not open later than 10 a. m. while Vermont sets 6 as opening time.

Tolland in the western part of Massachusetts completed its voting at 6:30, giving Gov. Landon 4 votes and President Roosevelt 27.

Millsfield folks made no secret of the fact they were out to wrest the title from New Ashford as they entered the "town hall" promptly at 12:01 a. m. to exercise their constitutional right.

OFFICER DISCUSSES OHIO TRAFFIC RULES

In general, he advised the motorist to save all the trouble of being arrested and then suing, by obeying all stop lights, legal or not.

Some of the points brought out by Sergeant Augenstein were that:

1—Too many of us try to get the right of way at an intersection and it would be better if both drivers would feel that neither one had it. When highways at a crossing are of equal importance, then the first man in the intersection is generally the winner of any law suit that follows an accident.

2—Stopping at a stop street is not enough under the law. You must look and wait until the main street is clear before you start again. Even if you stopped, you would be in the wrong if you had an accident coming from a stop street.

3—Any one backing up is liable for any accident.

4—Fully 80 per cent of our accidents could be avoided if drivers would obey the law when passing another car and when being passed. You should give ample warning before passing, and the driver being passed should not speed up until he is actually passed, according to the law.

Patrol Ready To Help

Sergeant Augenstein closed with an invitation to all drivers to call on the patrol whenever needed. He said the patrol was succeeding in winning the confidence of the people and in destroying the attitude that "police are your enemies." Work with school children has largely accomplished this, he said.

Next week's meeting will be in charge of Sheriff Fred F. Miller who is expected to deal with traffic problems on county roads. Sheriff Miller will be an instructor every fourth Monday night at the Junior Chamber rooms on East Center street.

TOWNSEND DISCIPLE CAUSES ROW IN OHIO

O. G. Davis Quits Post After Saying Californian Was Involved in Cash Deal.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 3—An assertion that Dr. Francis E. Townsend "was personally involved" in cash transactions "paid by friends of Gov. (Martin L.) Davey" of Ohio, coming in the midst of the state's last-minute political strife, precipitated a controversy today over the Ohio affairs of the Townsend National Recovery Plan, Inc.

Announcing his resignation as public relations director for the organization, O. G. Davis, who was here to make an address at a Townsend rally last night, made the assertion and promptly drew a reply from Floyd J. Smith, Ohio manager of the Townsend organization that Davis refused to address the rally "unless he could talk in behalf of Gov. Davey."

"Dr. Francis E. Townsend was personally involved in cash transactions," Davis said in an initialled statement, "which went to Gen. Maines publicity agent, Dr. S. E. Taylor, director visual education, totalling more than $5,000 and which was paid by friends of Gov. Davey and for which value was not given. I feel that it is impossible for me to make a satisfactory statement to the public as I was supposed to do at a mass meeting."

Smith hit Davis' statement as a "false and vicious attack on the Townsend organization for the purpose of wrecking the Townsend movement." Gov. Davey was in Cleveland but could not be reached immediately for comment. Democratic State Chairman Francis Poulson likewise could not be reached. Officials at Townsend headquarters in Chicago said they would issue no statement until they knew more about the situation.

"It is strange," Smiths' signed statement continued, "that he (Davis) came to Columbus for the purpose of addressing a huge Townsend rally and refused to speak unless he could talk in behalf of Gov Davey."

An announcement from the platform at the rally said Davis would not speak as scheduled. Smith said in his statement, "I refused to allow him to speak."

tional voting booth was installed, making a total of four in use there. At noon 174 persons had voted in that precinct, the only rural precinct reached in the survey.

The vote in the 10 precincts contacted by The Star at noon follows:

Marion township North precinct, 174; Precinct B of the First ward, 317; D of the First ward, 246; A of the Second ward, 221; D of the Second ward, 242; A of the Third ward, 258; A of the Fourth ward, 242; E of the Fourth ward, 200; A of the Fifth ward, 290; B of the Sixth ward 277.

Voting was steady throughout the morning, despite a drizzling rain.

First returns from precincts are expected by county election officials about 9:30 tonight. They predicted the trend of the voting in this county will be evident around 11:30, but no estimate has been made when the final, complete returns will be in.

A number of election parties have been arranged for those who plan to be uptown tonight. In addition to the party in The Star auditorium to which the general public is invited, Republican and Democratic headquarters will be open, the Palace theater will keep its patrons advised of the progress of returns, and the Elks lodge will give an election party and lunch for members and sponsored friends. The Moose lodge also plans to get occasional returns. Several candidates have arranged to receive returns at their homes or in small parties in uptown offices.

The pilgrimage to the tomb followed a meeting of Cooper Post No. 117, G. A. R., at which Mr. and Mrs. Pharis, Mrs. Mary Pharis and Mrs. Gladys Silcott of Mt. Vernon and Carl F. Settler of Mansfield, department president of the Federated Patriotic Societies of Ohio were present.

Commander Layton spoke briefly at the tomb. Mr. Pharis paid tribute to Harding as a President and as a member of the Sons of Union Veterans.

The G. A. R., Cooper Women's Relief corps, Ladies of the G. A. R. and Daughters of Union Veterans were represented in the group at the tomb.

The next meeting of Cooper post will be held on Dec. 7.

LONG'S SUCCESSOR STALKS FROM JAIL

Placed Behind Bars for Short Period on Charge of Reviling Police, Obscene Language.

By The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 3—Gerald L. K. Smith, former organizer of share our wealth clubs for the late Huey Long, early today stalked angrily from a jail cell in which he was placed after denouncing the state administration in a radio address.

Smith, taken into custody with three others at his hotel room last night, was booked on charges of disturbing the peace, reviling the police and using obscene language. He denied all accusations.

Smith refused a release offered by Mayor S. Maestri but left the jail at the expiration of a two-hour period in accordance with an ordinance concerning persons arrested for city law violations.

"I was put in jail by Maestri but it got so hot for him he called up here and offered me a parole," Smith said. "I refused to accept."

Arrested with Smith were Preston Delcazal, his secretary, and Henry and Herman Grundmeyer. The Grundmeyers were described as friends of Smith not officially connected with his activities.

Smith, Delcazal and the Grundmeyers were ordered to appear Wednesday night at midnight at police court to answer to the three charges which were brought by Detective Capt. Alfred Malone. Maximum penalty for conviction on each of the three charges is $25 fine.

Smith, in his address at an open air rally last night, charged he had evidence of a "hot oil deal" whereby 25,000,000 barrels of oil would be taken tax-free out of Louisiana.

Smith and former Gov. James A. Noe, close political friend of Sen. Long, have centered their attacks on Gov. Richard Leche's support of President Roosevelt and the imposition of a two per cent "luxury" sales tax in Louisiana.

city, and in many sections of the state overshadowed it in interest.

Davey Cites Record

Gov. Davey campaigned on his record, claiming $18,000,000 economies in the operation of state government. Bricker denied this claim and accused the Davey administration of extravagance and corruption.

Both stumped the state from corner to corner, northeast to southwest, northwest to southeast. Gov. Davey used the radio frequently, both in person and through the medium of electrically-transcribed addresses.

There were few new developments in the late days of the state campaign, but Landon supporters threw a surprise in Ohio as everywhere by their sudden onslaught on the federal social security act. New deal orators, led by Under-Secretary of the Interior Charles West of Granville, returned the fire. West predicted in late speeches that the act would be amended as a result of the widespread Republican criticism.

Woo New Voters

Gov. Davey and Bricker, like the national candidates and those on down the list on the county tickets, had as one goal the favor of 200,000 to 400,000 new voters. Ohio's total vote in 1932 was 2,600,000 and the difference between that figure and the total expected to be cast today, 2,800,000 to 3,000,000 represented opinions and determinations virtually unknown to the strategists.

Davey planned to drive from Cleveland today to his home in Kent to vote. He said he would spend the rest of the time "playing bridge with friends."

"I am not even going to worry about the election returns," he said.

Bricker returned here from Cincinnati, where he made his closing campaign address last night, asserting that his opponent was circulating "a deluge of vicious propaganda."

Says It's Libelous

"Much of this is libellous, all of it is false," he said.

Closely watched was the labor vote. John Owens, claiming to represent 30,000 Ohio miners as district president of the United Mine Workers of America, made several radio speeches supporting President Roosevelt. He headed labor's Non-Partisan league, organized to support the President.

The result of the day's vote was not expected to be definite until long after midnight.

Party workers, noting weather reports predicting rain and possibly snow and much colder, worked feverishly to get voters to the booths early. George S. Myers, secretary of state, predicted every voter would have his opportunity but requested county elections officials to prepare for a rush.

NEW ZEPHYRS GO ON DISPLAY

Ed C. Watters Ford Agency Shows 1937 Models of Lincoln-Made Cars.

First arrivals of the 1937 series of Lincoln-Zephyr automobiles went on display at the showrooms of the Ed C. Watters garage at [illegible] East Center street today. The car is available in four models, coupe, coupe sedan, sedan and town limousine. A sedan is now on display here.

Just a year since the car made its initial bow to the public last autumn, the Lincoln-Zephyr enters its second year with improvements, which company engineers expect to substantially widen its appeal. Although basically the same as the inauguration model the 1937 edition as a result of the "road" experience of some 15,000 owners, embodies minor mechanical changes.

Among the most important is a newly designed luggage compartment reached through the rear deck hatch and a steering system intended to permit easier driving and parking. The car retains the all-steel welded "bridge-truss" design and the 110 horsepower V-12 engine. The frontal appearance brings out the sharp nosed radiator grille topped by its "flying wings," and ornamented with horizontal strips of bright chromium. Similar strips border the hood louvres.

The instrument panel has been designed to include a new enclosed grill reaching down to the top of the transmission housing and designed to screen installation of a car heater or radio. Both the panel and grill are finished in the body color. Glove compartments flank the instrument group and are fitted at each end of the instrument panel. In the middle is the speedometer and below is a large electric clock.

In body structure design, its engineers claim the arrangement for luggage is most important. The compartment is reached through the rear deck hatchway, which also encloses the spare tire and space enough to hold a family's traveling baggage.

Transverse cantilever springs are mounted forward of the front and back of the rear axel. The wheel base is 122 inches, the springbase 123 inches. Brakes are of cable-controlled mechanical type and the pressed steel wheels are of artillery type, with 7x16 inch tires.

F. O. B. prices follow, coupe $1,090, coupe sedan $1,170, sedan $1,190, town limousine $1,350.

COURT NEWS

Reply in Damage Suit

Perry W. Northrup, plaintiff in a $5,000 damage suit against Ernest Biggerstaff, filed his reply to the answer of the defendant yesterday in common pleas court, denying all the allegation of the defendant. Northrup is suing for damages for injuries received Dec. 4, 1933, when he was employed on a CWA road project on Route 37. He alleged he was carrying a long templet and that Biggerstaff carelessly drove through the area under repair and struck the templet, knocking Northrup to the ground.

In his answer, Biggerstaff denied he had been careless and alleged, on the other hand, that Northrup had been negligent in allowing the templet to swing into the path of his school bus. A motion, filed by the plaintiff to have certain words stricken from the defendant's answer, was sustained in part and overruled in part by the court. The phrase stricken out alleged the federal government had paid Northrup for the time lost from work and for the medical bills. Northrup is represented by Guthery, Streitz & Guthery, while Clark V. Campbell of Columbus is attorney for Biggerstaff.

Answers Grain Suit.

Milton Markey, defendant in a suit filed by E. E. Stoner, has filed his answer in common pleas court and denies all the allegations of the plaintiff. ## BOWLING ALLEYS PLAN FOR OPENING

Manager Announces Group Well Known in Baseball Will Be Here.

Seven men whose names are well known in major league baseball are expected to visit Marion next Sunday for the formal opening of the Marion Recreation Center on South Prospect street, it was announced today by Arthur Wintersteller, manager, who took over the bowling alleys early this fall.

Roy Hughes, Frankie Doljack, Steve O'Neill, Elmer Smith, "Lefty" Welaman, William Wamby and Roger Peckinpaugh are included in the group of visiting guest stars who are to be on hand for the "open house" program from 2 to 6 p. m., Sunday, Wintersteller said.

Wintersteller, a former resident of Sandusky, became acquainted with the baseball players during the winter season while he was a member of a championship bowling team in that city. Early in the fall they gave him the assurance that they would participate in the opening of the recreation center here, he said. The opening was delayed when Roy Hughes underwent an operation shortly after the close of the baseball season.

Two bowling teams from Sandusky, which last season battled for the city championship play-off, will be on hand for exhibition matches with Marion teams. The Waldorf-Lager squad of Cleveland will also be present for an exhibition with a representative Marion team. The Cleveland bowling squad headed by Walter "Skang" Mercurio, is considered "tops" in that city's bowling circles. Another member of the team, Amos Scperike, is considered Cleveland's outstanding rookie pin-toppler.

TREAT A COLD AS IF YOU MEAN IT!

Don't Fool Around with Half-way Measures and Invite Serious Complications!

One of the worst things you can do is "kid around" with a cold.

The so-called "common cold" causes more serious sickness and more enforced absence from work than anything else.

It's a mistake to treat a cold lightly. A cold calls for a cold treatment and not a "cure-all". A cold calls for internal treatment, for a cold is an internal infection.

One of the best things you can take for a cold is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Your own doctor will tell you that.

First of all, Bromo Quinine is a cold tablet, made expressly for the treatment of colds.

Secondly it is internal medication and of fourfold effect.

Here's what it does:

First, it opens the bowels, an advisable step in treating a cold.

Second, it checks the infection in the system.

Third, it relieves the headache and fever.

Fourth, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack.

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. The sugar-coated are exactly the same as the regular, except that the tablets are coated with sugar for palatability.

Play safe in your treatment of a cold! The moment you feel the first symptom, go right to your druggist for a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

Start taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours. That action will usually break up a cold in 24 hours.

Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is safe to take. Ask the druggist for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine and insist upon getting what you ask for!

The few pennies' cost may save you a lot in medical bills.

Here's How Nearby Counties Voted for President, Governor in Past Years

As residents of the Eighth congressional district went to the polls today to make their choices for president and other offices, they looked back on results of the 1932 and 1928 presidential elections and wondered which way it will "go" when the ballots are counted tonight.

If the 1932 and 1934 congressional contests could be taken as an indication, the district normally belongs in the Democratic column because Congressman Brooks Fletcher won both times by majorities passing the 3,000 mark. However, a study of the vote of the individual counties on president and governor indicates at least some of the counties normally belong to the Republicans.

In the 1934 congressional contest, Congressman Fletcher, a Democrat, won over Miss Gertrude Jones of Findlay by a margin of 3,354 polling 39,466 against her 36,112. In 1932, he won over Grant E. Mouser Jr., his opponent this year by a margin of 3,696, receiving 45,930 votes to Mouser's 41,234.

A study of the Marion county results in the presidential and gubernatorial contests of 1934 and 1928 leave this county's balance of power in doubt. In the 1932 contest between President Roosevelt and Herbert Hoover, the county gave 10,354 of its 18,923 votes to Roosevelt and 8,569 to Hoover. The victory for Roosevelt in that year, however, was not as decisive as the county's margin for Hoover in the 1928 contest when it gave him 13,398 and Al Smith 5,468.

Despite the fact the county went Republican in 1928 and Democratic in 1932 so far as the presidential contests were concerned, it was definitely in the Democratic column in the last two gubernatorial elections—those held in 1934 and 1932.

In 1934 the county cast 16,322 votes for governor, giving 8,369 to Davey and 7,953 to Clarence J. Brown, his Republican opponent. In the 1932 contest, the county gave 10,485 votes to George White, Democrat, and 8,229 to David S. Ingalls, Republican.

The results in other counties near Marion in the 1928 and 1932 presidential contests and the gubernatorial elections of 1934 and 1932 follow:

Crawford County: 1932 presidential vote—Roosevelt 10,593, Hoover 6,538; 1928 presidential vote—Smith 5,472, Hoover 11,235; 1934 governor vote—Davey 7,412, Brown 6,516; 1932 governor vote—White 11,372 Ingalls 5,452.

Delaware County: 1932 presidential vote—Roosevelt 6,196, Hoover 6,833; 1928 presidential vote — Smith 3,720, Hoover 8,049; 1934 governor vote—Davey 4,783, Brown 6,814; 1932 governor vote—White 5,894, Ingalls 6,898.

Hardin county: 1932 presidential vote—Roosevelt 8,717, Hoover 7,215; 1928 presidential vote—Smith 5,306, Hoover 8,137; 1934 governor vote—Davey 7,379, Brown 7,358; 1932 governor vote—White 8,628, Ingalls 7,156.

Morrow county: 1932 presidential vote—Roosevelt 3,849, Hoover 3,811; 1928 presidential vote—Smith 1,818, Hoover 4,501; 1934 governor vote—Davey 2,965, Brown 3,691; 1932 governor vote—White 3,940, Ingalls 3,591.

Landon—As 'Alf'— Waged Folksy Campaign

By HUGH WAGNON
and WILLIAM L. BEALE
By The Associated Press
(Who Ac[illegible]anied Governor Landon On His Campaign Tours)

[illegible] Kan. Nov 3—The man who campaigned the length [illegible] the nation as friendly, smiling "Alf" quietly awaited [illegible] today on whether he shall become President. A.

[illegible] of Kansas, he was "Gov Alf M Landon But [illegible] convention's nominating certificate was issued to [illegible] as the name un[illegible] [illegible]blican presidential [illegible] every state and [illegible] Landon would [illegible] a President [illegible] of the outcome, [illegible] to his intimates [illegible] exception—Mrs [illegible] calls her husband [illegible]

[illegible] informality of the [illegible] perhaps the domi[illegible] [illegible] of the candi[illegible] [illegible]esidential campaign [illegible]

[illegible] Alf Landon he fre[illegible] [illegible] himself walk [illegible] standers at railway [illegible] And rarely did he [illegible] throng without [illegible] At a boy Alf or [illegible] Alf [illegible] apparently created [illegible] candidate and his [illegible] audiences by the [illegible] and the governor's mid[illegible] ease of manner spelled [illegible] atmosphere aboard his [illegible] campaign train with its [illegible] addition to his own [illegible] the loud speaker [illegible] platform he referred [illegible] back porch on wheels" [illegible] almost doubled over the [illegible] traveling back porch

TIRED TO MEET FOLKS

[illegible] greeting children often seemed the part of campaigning Landon liked best And [illegible] his advisers considered it the most effective phase Those [illegible] at his rear platform [illegible] would say If the voters could only meet him personally there would be no question about the outcome

Drove Home Two Ideas

A [illegible] in ruddy health Landon withstood the rigors of strenuous campaigning better than many of his aides His stamina amazed those who traveled with him A dozen rear platform talks between [illegible] and bedtime shaking hands [illegible] and working on future speeches did not prevent the nominee from walking forward on his special train to greet party delegations too large for accommodation in his private car

Once when riding through a hard rain he ordered the top of his car lowered so that he could wave his hat to crowds along the way

These people are here to see me the candidate told an aide who remonstrated I'm not going to disappoint them

In all the thousands of miles of campaigning and scores of rear platform talks Landon repeated two statements more than all others One which almost always drew applause was We do not want to save a dollar at the expense of the truly unemployed but we do want relief administered without waste without extravagance and above all without partisanship

Landon usually opened his brief talks with the second statement and it drew the most laughs I know you have come down to look me over Well that goes both ways I've come to look you over, too [illegible] We are here primarily because [illegible] interested in good government

This transition line took the candidate into the more serious portion of his speech

And to farm crowds when raised to a high pitch of enthusiasm by a

UPRAISED FIST DREW CHEERS

[illegible] oratory often quieted noticeably as Landon began speaking in quieter and more matter-of-fact tones But cheers usually echoed whenever he raised his right fist and lashed hard at the new deal

At his headquarters there was a belief shared by Landon, that a [illegible] crowd was a thinking crowd [illegible] of the governor's main efforts was to start his audience thinking about points he raised

When the nominee did tire, his usually chatty mood vanished and he was occasionally curt, even abrupt in cutting short tedious programs to gain the privacy of his own room and rest.

Finding himself moving at a snail's pace behind a band he ordered his car to skirt the marchers and speed directly to his hotel He did not seem enthusiastic over parades evidently regarding them as a campaign chore But once in them Landon waved his hat repeatedly often standing for blocks

STOOD FOR BLOCKS IN PARADES

Three Recreations

During his campaign the candidate indulged as often as possible three favorite forms of relaxation bridge horseback riding and detective stories

After a day's campaigning and a major speech at Milwaukee the governor delayed departure of his sunflower special an hour and a half while he played bridge with reporters Finally at 2 a. m. Landon arose to leave 65 cents winner

Those who played with or against the governor described him as an able player inclined to take an all or nothing gamble in the bidding

Before making a major speech at Buffalo the Kansan read a detective story until after 3 o'clock in the morning

During good weather while in Topeka Landon rode his Hunter Si Sometimes while traveling he would find an opportunity to ride as at Frank O Lowden's Sinissippi farm in Illinois and J N (Ding) Darling's home in Des Moines

During train operating stops when there was sufficient time Landon more than once walked down the track a quarter of a mile for exercise

Newspaperman's Campaign

In many respects Landon's campaign could be called a newspaperman's campaign Newspapermen were on his board of strategy editors comprised the majority of members of his personal party on each campaign drive and the governor liked to chat with reporters on his train all of whom he knew and called by their first names

Portions of gifts of food along the campaign route often were sent forward to the press cars Landon himself was fond of good food and he wanted his meals at regular hours Before a major speech however the nominee ate crackers and milk Afterward he usually enjoyed a dish of ice cream before going to bed

Landon evidenced no illusions about his ability as an orator but was a crack editor The preparation of a speech began with a conference with advisers on the subject matter a rough outline by Landon a rewritten version by his staff editing by the governor and then a final polished draft

Special attention was given to radio delivery Experts on voice the most effective phrasing sentence construction and type of delivery were included on the national committee staff

In speaking Landon concentrated on his delivery but no detail in the crowd immediately before him was too small to escape attention. If heckled he singled out his heckler and replied directly to him

The Republican nominee started his campaign from the outset with the firm belief that to win his party first must banish any defeatist attitude To the end he always appeared confident of ultimate victory

Roosevelt—Thrived As 'Traveling Salesman'

By The Associated Press
By D. HAROLD OLIVER
(Who Accompanied President Roosevelt On His Campaign Tours)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov 3.—Franklin D. Roosevelt rested at his mother's home in the tiny Hudson river village of Hyde Park today while his countrymen were writing with ballots the momentous decision whether he is to serve another four years in the White House."

"Rested" is the proper word. For veteran political writers who accompanied the tall 54-year-old chief executive as he "proclaimed" the new deal in more than 60 speeches over the nation testify it was no easy job, despite the radio and loudspeaker which permitted him to save on travel.

These men who for years have front paged "whirlwind tours" and flying forays" of presidential candidates saw figuratively in F D R. a man who had just finished a 15-round bout and was awaiting the judge's verdict.

"Pre-Ordained Traveling Man"

It was nothing new, however, for the President. He knew all the ropes from having campaigned for the New York state legislature for governor twice for the vice presidency and the presidency And it was this background and the fact that he followed the same rigid routine on the road and he adheres to in the White House that enabled him his physicians said to stand the strain,

I seem to thrive on 10 days on a sleeper the President told an up-state New York crowd at the end of his 5,000-mile western swing

TRAVELING SALESMAN'

Still flashing a broad smile he said he must have been pre-ordained to be a traveling salesman because he just loved the road

Of the 40,000,000 persons who are likely to be voting today Mr Roosevelt's associates on his campaign travels estimated roughly that one tenth must have seen the Democratic standard-bearer on tour personally

Large Crowds

Political crowds sometimes are deceptive Roosevelt crowds were what veteran scribes on the campaign special called large and exceedingly demonstrative Alfred E Smith had record crowds in 1928 and some writers even to this day are saying they fooled him

Police estimated Roosevelt indoor audiences at from 10,000 to more than 30,000 his outdoor bowl crowds as high as 60,000 and his street crowds at from several thousand to more than a hundred thousand

Drenching rains kept few indoors it was apparent to one who saw the President stand uncovered in many a downpour and talk to scores of station crowds

Rain water is good for a man who's getting slightly bald a New York audience heard him wise crack while standing beside his friend and political associate Gov Lehman

But I've got more hair than Gov Lehman at that he added as the crowd joined him in laughter

Western Audiences Quicker"

The more responsive crowds appeared to observers to have enjoyed his story telling and side remarks along with his digs at Republican leaders whom he labeled two-mouthed Januses and political bedtime story tellers

The President himself is keenly

alert to responsiveness of audiences After his western tour he noted that audiences west of the Mississippi were perhaps a little quicker on the 'pick up than their more eastern neighbors

Several times it was observed, applause out in the open spaces drowned out concluding phrases which were heard only over the radio

The "talk of the train" though, was one he told a Syracuse audience at the outset of the campaign. He likened the new deal to a lifeguard who, having saved from drowning a "nice old gentleman wearing a silk hat," was berated three years afterward "because the silk hat was lost."

The President got a big kick out of his trip to Emporia, Kan., home of progressive editor William Allen White.

[illegible]

Hello there, Bill," he shouted White finally edged over to the platform and, extending a hand upward, said, looking over his shoulder "Don't shoot this old gray head"

Typical Day

A typical day on the Roosevelt campaign train was a typical day at the White House as far as routine went He arose at 8 30 a. m., following a late night of work and at 6 a m if he had a morning speaking engagement.

While eating breakfast in bed he read the morning papers In the west he perused the front pages of New York first editions almost simultaneously with New Yorkers thanks to airplane service provided by the railroads

After a shower and a self shave with an old fashioned straight razor he would remain in his private car and receive local politicians work on speeches sign government mail and at some stops talk over a hastily arranged telephone direct from the train to Washington After a particularly strenuous evening he usually has a rubdown in the morning

His audiences with local politicians necessarily were brief due to the demands of his time No press conferences were held on tour

He kept up the White House custom of utilizing the lunch hour for conferences Mrs Roosevelt would learn his luncheon plans order for him and his guests then go into one of two regular dining cars and lunch with the lady secretariat

Sleeps Well On Train

Those who have traveled with the President for years attribute his ability to keep fresh on trips to the soundness of his slumbers on a train Healthful eating might be another cause for his travel stamina. He eats food carefully chosen but has no special chef All the food served to him is carried though compartment cars from the regular dining car with waiters dodging senators and governors in the narrow passageways

While receiving some assistance on background material from senators and others who accompanied him including Judge S E Rosenman his counsel when he was New York governor the President dictated virtually every line of his formal addresses, according to his aides

He usually waited until the last moment to polish them off working right up to the dead line as were the 25 to 30 correspondents who traveled with him

Intimates explained this was due to his desire for the flavor of freshness Some newspapermen were far from fresh after they had sat up as late as 4 and 5 in the morning finishing advance abstracts of a few of his speeches

Someone may have thought up a better one but he usually got a laugh when in thanking some well wisher for a bouquet for Mrs Roosevelt he would say

"Thanks for these fine flowers—and I don't see a sunflower in the bunch "

Marion's Scholastic Football Season Nearing Close

JUNIOR HIGH LEAGUE TO WIND UP GRID ACTIVITY THURSDAY

Harding To Play Under Floodlights at Bucyrus Friday Night.

Marion's scholastic football season will near its windup this week with representatives of Harding's varsity reserve squad and junior high teams all booked for action. The Harding Presidents will take to the road for a floodlight game at Bucyrus Friday night, the junior varsity will travel to Richwood for a return game Saturday afternoon and Central and Vernon Heights Junior High teams will battle on the Harding field in a Thursday afternoon conflict.

Coach Carl Cramer's Presidents now hold a record of four defeats, two victories and one deadlocked game in seven starts. In the North Central Ohio league the Harding team has won one of four contests, that a 19 to 0 victory over Galion. The Presidents suffered a narrow margin 14 to 13 defeat at the hands of Shelby in a night game here Friday which closed the home season.

The varsity club began today the task of rebuilding its forces for the invasion of Bucyrus this week. The Crawford county club, an old and honorable rival of Marion, has won but one of its seven games this season. Usually a formidable foe, Bucyrus this year through the loss of many veterans by graduation is apparently pinning its hopes on building for the 1937 season. Next year the team, which recently was re-admitted to the N C O league, will take part in the regular conference football schedule.

Bucyrus opened its season with a 32 to 0 defeat at the hands of Tiffin Junior Order Home, fell before Tiffin Columbian 26 to 0 and Fostoria, 27 to 0 in succeeding contests. After stopping Fremont 7 to 0 Bucyrus again hit the doldrums and was defeated 28 to 13 by Shelby, 39 to 0 by Fremont and last week 10 to 0 by Norwalk.

The only common opponent which both Bucyrus and Marion have faced this season is Shelby. Marion dropped its most recent game, an N C O contest, to Shelby 14 to 13 while the Whippets humbled Bucyrus 28 to 13, in a game earlier this season. Comparative scores, however, are of little value in predicting the final outcome and Coach Cramer is anticipating plenty of opposition when he leads the Presidents into the Bucyrus stadium Friday night.

Fresh from a 19 to 0 victory over the Shelby junior varsity in the preliminary contest Friday night the Marion reserves will face Richwood in a return game on the Union county gridiron Saturday. On the rain-soaked Harding gridiron Richwood scored a 19 to 6 victory over the reserves three weeks ago. Bolstered by additional practice and the experience of two more games under their belts the Marion reserves should show well against Richwood this week.

The final game on the junior high program will be played Thursday afternoon when Central and Vernon Heights Junior High clubs oppose each other at Harding field. Central's record of one defeat, one tie game and one victory, the latter at the expense of Vernon, gives the team a slight pre-game advantage. Edison Junior High's team which last week completed its season with a 13 to 6 win over Central is undefeated this season. The one tie game was recorded early this year when Central held Edison to a 7 7 score.

Can Buckeyes Stop This Ball Carrier?

Whether Ohio State's Buckeyes will be able to stop such players as Warren Skoning, University of Chicago fullback, shown in an unusual action shot in the above photograph when the teams clash Saturday at Columbus is one of the questions troubling supporters of the Scarlet Scourge. The above camera shot was taken as Skoning catapulted himself over the scrimmage line for a touchdown in the first period of the Wisconsin-Chicago game at Madison last Saturday. Wisconsin scored in the last period but the Maroons won the Big Ten battle 7 to 6. (Associated Press Photo)

Golf Given New Definition by Texas Minister

By The Associated Press

PALESTINE, Tex — The Rev. Dr. Ewart H. Wyle, who minces in better than average golf games with his preaching at the First Christian church here, defines the game of golf as follows:

Golf is what letter carrying, ditch digging and carpet beating would be if these three tasks had to be performed on the same hot afternoon in short pants and colored socks by gouty looking gentlemen who required a different implement for every mood.

It is the simplest game in the world when you take it up and the toughest after you've been at it 10 or 12 years.

It is probably the only known game a man can play as long as a quarter of a century and then discover that it was too deep for him in the first place.

One golfer can support a family of 10 people, all adults, on the amounts represented by the balls lost by some golfers on a single afternoon.

A green is a small parcel of grass costing about $1.08 a blade and usually located between a brook, a couple of apple trees and a lot of unfinished excavations.

The idea is to get the golf ball from a given point into each of the cups in the fewest strokes and the greatest number of words. The ball must not be thrown, pushed or carried. It must be propelled entirely by about $200 worth of curious looking implements especially designed to provoke the owner.

After each hole has been completed the golfer counts his strokes. Then he subtracts six and announces he made a five. "Shall we play for 60 cents on the next hole?" he asks.

Arthur Betts, engineer, traveled 1,100 miles [illegible] to Kinderhook, N. Y. [illegible] full [illegible] [illegible] escape.

Chicago Given Chance To Trip Ohio State Saturday

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 3—Things didn't shape up like this a few weeks back—but today the Chicago Maroons are being rated a chance to trip up Ohio State's erstwhile Scarlet Scourge next Saturday.

The Maroons were badly beaten by Vanderbilt, tied Butler and were routed by Purdue while Ohio State defeated New York U., lost to Pitt, lost a thriller to Northwestern and defeated Indiana. Then last Saturday Chicago, doped to go down quickly before Wisconsin, whipped the Badgers 7 to 6 while Ohio State was losing to Notre Dame.

As a result the teams are tied for fifth place in the Western conference and the once ill-regarded Maroons weren't conceding the Buckeyes anything. In Sollie Sherman Chicago has a fine sophomore back who averaged six yards from scrimmage against the Badgers and the Maroons after a slow start appear likely to give any team a hard tussle.

The Buckeyes yesterday went through a light drill studying a chart of Chicago plays. Tippy Dye, Joe Williams and Charles Hamrick were on the sick list. The Maroons had a signal workout indoors.

At Michigan Coach Harry Kipke sent his Wolverines through a signal drill and announced no scrimmage would be held all week. Michigan travels to Pennsylvania Saturday. Indiana's varsity reported for a short practice in good condition, no players being seriously hurt against Iowa while Iowa reviewed mistakes made against Indiana and planned a defense for the expected charge of Minnesota's Gophers.

An indoor skull session occupied Purdue which faces Fordham Saturday and at Notre Dame the Irish who played against Ohio State were given a holiday. The remainder of the squad blocked and tackled indoors in preparation for Navy.

Wisconsin suffered a blow in losing Fred Benz, regular left end, for the season as the result of an injury in the Chicago game. The Badgers face Northwestern's wildcats who today watched motion pictures of their victory over Minnesota. The Gophers in gloomy mood also looked at pictures of the battle. No serious injuries were reported and they will be ready for the Hawkeyes.

Illinois with an open date Saturday before Ohio State is tackled had an off day.

THREE IN MARION DISTRICT SEEK GRID POSTS AT OHIO STATE

Dwight Carhart of Marion To Be Candidate for Varsity Job With Buckeyes

One Marion youth and two others from this district are among the members of the Ohio State University freshman football team who will next year be candidates for positions on the varsity squad according to a bulletin issued from the university's press bureau.

The trio includes Dwight Carhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Carhart of 238 Franklin street, Robert Payne of Mt. Gilead and Anthony Jeske of Carey. Carhart, a letterman of Harding High school squad, enrolled in the university at the start of the fall term. He has been filling a tackle position with the freshman squad.

Bob Payne, quarterback, last year led the Mt. Gilead Indians to a Mid State league title. Especially fast and deceptive, Payne was considered the bulwark of the Morrow county team. Jeske, who fills an end position, played with the Carey High team last season.

All of the youths are under the direction of Coach Fritz Mackey who this year has charge of 17 full teams of aspirants to next year's varsity.

Purdue, Fordham To Clash

Despite the fact that the Purdue Boilermakers took a drubbing from Minnesota they are expected to give Fordham's Rams a terrific tussle when the two meet at New York's Polo grounds Nov. 7. Cecil Isbell and John Drake are mainstays of the Purdue backfield while Fordham has two outstanding players in End Jacunski and Ed Franco, guard.

Referee, Floored by Livernois, Gives Match to Black Panther

The hefty punts of Marcel Livernois directed at Referee Red Moon resulted in the Bostonian's defeat by disqualification in the final fall of his scrap with the Black Panther of Algeria in one of the headline bouts on last night's mat program at the Shovel gymnasium. In the other main go Speedy LaRance scored a two fall victory over Dan Cady.

The preliminary event was an all-Marion affair matching Tom Temple of 186 Kensington place and Harry Red Harbin of 427 Uncapher avenue. Temple, who has refereed former matches on the Monday night programs, displayed that his knowledge of the game isn't confined to officiating. After being pinned in Harbin's headlock during the opening minutes Temple heaved his opponent into the air and dropped him backward on the mat to score the fall with a body press in four minutes.

The Panther-Livernois match got underway with an irate crowd booing the rough tactics of the Bostonian. Livernois depended largely upon a neck and head hold, using the ropes for protection when the irked Algerian became the aggressor. The first fall went 10 minutes with the Panther gaining the decision following a head lock and body press.

The Boston grappler resorted to an old trick to get the winning advantage in the second round. After the Algerian retaliated against Livernois' rough display the Boston grappler went to the ropes for a series of rest counts. Refusing to step into the ring while the Panther remained near him Livernois finally renewed the scrap by gaining a hold as the Algerian turned to walk away. Livernois applied a near fatal leg hold on his opponent who was forced to concede the fall. The second round was timed at 15 minutes.

In the deciding three-minute round Livernois again succeeded in applying the leg hold but was forced to break when he used the ropes to his advantage. The Boston scrapper, angered by his inability to gain the fall and because Referee Moon forced him to break the hold for using the ropes, finally turned on the official. He punted Moon to the mat twice before the official called a halt to the match and awarded the scrap to the Panther by disqualifying Livernois.

Speedy LaRance, Canadian ring veteran, exchanged full Nelsons, head scissors, leg spreads and arm holds with Dan Cady for 18 minutes of the first round. The Montreal grappler finally resorted to a shoulder butt and body press to pin Cady to the mat and take the initial fall.

Cady was well on his way to taking the second round after opening with a head hold and working into a hammerlock, then a keylock and finally a series of body spills. The youngster applied a reverse Indian hold and was applying a head scissors when LaRance opened fire. The Canadian, angered because Cady had bumped his head on the mat as he applied a scissors, tossed a pair of right crosses and finished with a press to win the second straight fall in 15 minutes.

ELECTED BY BOWLERS

D. W. Shirk was elected president and Raymond Lantz vice president at a recent organization meeting of the newly formed Craftsman bowling league. The league is arranging a 28-week schedule and will meet regularly on Friday nights at the Marion Recreation center. Frank McRill is secretary-treasurer of the loop.

Today's Vote

If expectations are realized voting [illegible] many places are going to be inadequate to handle the [illegible] cast in the [illegible].

Going to the polls is, of course, the whole thing. A surprisingly large percentage of Germans march to the polls or [illegible] but they do not really [illegible]. Their [illegible] march. From present indications there will be none of that sort of thing today except in the larger cities where political machines carefully "deliver" the vote.

Whatever one may think of the campaign, it has been reasonably successful in outlining for voters the issues of the presidential election. Credit is due from all citizens to Gov. Landon in this respect. He was the aggressor in the debate. He rallied the Republican party behind his leadership. He made his points of difference with the new deal plain. He demonstrated clearly that there is no real connection between the new deal and the Democratic party and, with the help of Jeffersonian Democrats has recruited old line Democrats to support his candidacy. Without Gov. Landon or a candidate like him the campaign would have been a failure.

President Roosevelt has conducted a defensive campaign. Until he was forced to the stump by the gains of Gov. Landon he seemed willing to trust to the popularity he retained from his election sweep in 1932. He has asked for reelection solely on his record without taking the public into his confidence on whatever program he may have in mind for the future. Whatever happens today this aspect of the election will remain—Gov. Landon's vigorous attack and Mr. Roosevelt's strangely indifferent defense.

Tired of It.

No one needs to apologize for confessing he is tired of politics. It is the country's normal state just before voting day.

The circumstances of a campaign in the United States make a state of exhaustion inevitable by the time voters are permitted to mark their ballots. Both the electorate and the candidates are ready for a rest by Nov. 4.

It is an almost impossible task to prod at least 50,000,000 voters into political wakefulness. At one extreme is a group which never ceases to be alert. At the other extreme is a larger group which never ceases to be apathetic. As with school teaching in public schools the objective is to reach the apathetic group. In the meantime the alert political pupils and the mediocre ones chafe impatiently at delay.

As yet the campaign is too close to be evaluated. Looking backward at previous presidential campaigns one is likely to conclude that at least four years are required to bring perspective to politics in the United States. In 1936 it is easier to understand what happened in 1932 than it has been in any of the preceding three years. By 1940 the events of 1936 will be much clearer than they are now.

In the last few weeks many persons have voiced their impatience by saying they could see no excuse for a political process which left them weary to the point of wishing for some political system easier than representative democracy. They spoke insincerely in most cases but even so one wonders what that system could be.

If the people are to be given a voice in determination of their affairs they must be willing to submit themselves to the arguments of politicians. If they submit themselves to the arguments of politicians they are bound to discover that politicians can be a great nuisance. Under any other system they would make the same discovery but only in a free country can they rid themselves of too great a nuisance simply by making or not making a mark on a ballot.

Still a Big Country

Meaning of the outbreak of labor trouble on the Pacific coast with ramifications in other coastal cities will have to wait on the excitement of the election to subside. Whether or not there is any connection between the windup of the campaign and occurrence of a strike impending for many weeks is a question which will need answering.

In this part of the country first news of the Pacific coast trouble is likely to start again an old and familiar thought—this is a big country. A strike in New York City, a fire in Chicago, a flood in New Orleans seem close and intimate. But beyond the Rockies lie Hollywood, the redwoods and the blue Pacific—all remote.

If, as is fully possible, the trouble which has been expected among maritime workers on the Pacific coast comes to a head the east and the middlewest may get acquainted suddenly with the far west not as vacationland but as the scene of social turmoil which it has become in recent years.

Post-Mortem Soon To Begin

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—Now that the campaign is over the era of post-mortems will begin in earnest. What mistakes did the Republicans make? Where did the new deal strategists err?

Irrespective of the outcome in electoral votes political managers always endeavor to benefit by the errors of the past. But they do not begin to concede such errors till after the election returns are counted.

First, take the Republican mistakes. They started at the Cleveland convention when old guard leaders insisted on inserting a tariff plank that cost Governor Landon many votes. The importance of this plank was that the Republicans were seeking the votes of Democrats and in such a campaign it is a [illegible] principle to try to make the platform conform to the wishes of the Republican elements whose support is certain.

The past campaign was a fusion campaign in every sense but it was not so regarded by the Republican high command. Except for an occasional appeal to Democrats who were deserting the new deal and expressions of appreciation to Al Smith and others who came over to the Landon side, the Republican party went through the whole campaign from convention to election on the assumption that this was a Republican party affair.

Excess Spending Not Stressed

Another fault that will be found by many critics relates to the failure to concentrate on a single issue. The Republican campaign diffused its fire. It shot away at a lot of issues but did not keep to one central theme. Such a theme was the excessive spending far beyond the needs of recovery. Hardly any of the Landon speeches, for example, stressed the point that if recovery is here as the new deal claims why is it necessary to spend in the fiscal year 1937 more money than in the fiscal year 1936?

Mr. Landon's principal error apart from his attitude on tariff policy, which of course was an embarrassment that the old guard Republicans foisted on him, was in his Des Moines speech. He promised a subsidy to the farmers and did not make it clear how he was going to do it within a balanced budget.

Had the Republican nominee presented an itemized budget of the major items of expenditures there would undoubtedly be more weight attached to his program. In fact, a temporary subsidy to agriculture might have been forgiven by his eastern supporters had it been possible to show that the budget would nevertheless be balanced.

From an organization viewpoint Republican national headquarters made its mistakes—all headquarters do—but on the whole the campaign was much better managed than a minority party beaten so badly in 1932 had a right to expect this year. John Hamilton did a remarkable job with a defeatist situation that stared him in the face from the very outset.

Mistakes of New Deal

Next, the new deal campaign mistakes. They relate to the future contests more than to the past. Commitments made by Mr. Roosevelt during the campaign in his speeches will rise to plague him as both conservatives and radicals attempt to hold him to the pledges actual and implied in his utterances.

The President never should have made the campaign trips that he did. His radio voice was good enough to reach the nation without his traveling and stumping. The ordeal was risky because the speeches opened up opportunities for the attack. The Madison Square Garden speech was particularly unfortunate in that it made after-election reconciliation of majority and minority elements much more difficult than if the talk of "master" had been omitted. Mr. Roosevelt's friends will excuse it on the ground that he is human and is bound to show his indignation and resentment against attack and that even presidents cannot be expected to repress their feelings.

When a campaign is over the task of reconciliation is important and means much in the smooth working of legislative machinery. The New York speech will leave scars.

But the biggest mistake that the President made was in his discussion of the social security payroll tax. Either he was completely misinformed as to what employers were doing or he was advised by his lieutenants to attack employers on general principles. But when Mr. Roosevelt said employers were omitting to tell employees about the tax to be levied on employers to help pay for social security he was not aware that in nine out of ten instances the employers were making an argument out of that very fact.

Tax Will Pass On

In other words the employers' argument is that the tax they have to pay is a burden which will have to be passed on to consumers and these latter are mostly workingmen.

The residue of the campaign is the social security controversy. It will not end with the counting of the ballots. It will only begin when the campaign aftermath is brushed aside and laboring men really find out how extensively the payroll tax affects them. The wise thing for the new deal to have done—and it would have upset the opposition strategists—was to admit that the payroll tax was imposed on workers as well as employers but to insist that the principle was more important than the form in which the revenues would be raised. Emphasis might well have been placed on the experimental nature of the tax and assurances could have been given that this feature would be open to revision if business did not improve sufficiently to absorb the tax.

The new deal will be compelled to revise the act in some way. This has been privately conceded for some time among some of the new dealers. From a campaign standpoint such a handling of the problem would have left less embarrassment after election.

But irrespective of the outcome the new deal has some important political problems ahead. It has made alliances in some states that will be disturbing. Temporary coalitions to gain a victory are worth while sometimes if they do not wreck fundamental party machinery. What has happened in Nebraska and Minnesota to undermine the Democratic party as such will be cited again and again now as a reason for further warfare in other states between the new deal and conservative Democrats. The election returns alone will tell whether all these political sacrifices were necessary because the campaign was a close one or whether they were for the most part superfluous because they could not have affected the result anyhow.

The Diamond Ghost Stirs

DOWN in Arkansas lies Kimberly, a ghost village where old timers recall the diamond rush of 1906. They are talking now of new operations at the Pike county surface mines, only producing diamond field in North America.

Better times prompt the talk—the depression virtually closed the field in 1930.

The principal owners, businessmen mostly successful in other lines and professions, are scanning market indices and laying plans for a resumption of activity in the workings sporadically operated over a 20 year period. Five separate companies hold acreage in the field.

"We shut down with the decline in diamond prices which came with the depression but discussions of opening up again on a large scale are being held and a decision probably will be reached this winter," Alfred G. Kahn, Little Rock banker and an official of the Arkansas Diamond Corp., controlling most of the field, explained.

An associate, Roy L. Thompson, president of a Little Rock printing company, said previous operations had never been on a large scale.

"But we did operate at a profit for years," he said, "and it can be done again in normal times. The Arkansas diamonds are harder than those from Africa and they bring prices just as good."

A United States geological survey published in 1925 said the field's largest "finds" were a 40.23 carat stone picked up in the summer of 1924, another of 20.25 carats found in 1921 and a third of 17.86 carats taken from the workings in 1917.

Figures Uncertain

The number of diamonds that have been found near Murfreesboro (Kimberly's trading center) since their discovery in 1906 is known only in part for the mining companies have withheld from publication the figures showing complete production, the survey indicates.

State Geologist George C. Branner says that information available to his department showed 48,000 diamonds aggregating 12,000 carats had been mined in the Murfreesboro-Kimberly producing area, a treeless 60 acre tract of volcanic rock.

Sub-surface operations have never been attempted. All mining has been in shallow open cuts and the hydraulic method has been used to wash out the crumbled rock. But most of the stones have been removed by hand after plowing up the soil.

When John W. Huddleston of Murfreesboro (folks still call him "Diamond John") picked up two diamonds on his property 30 years ago and told about it he started a get-rich-quick rush into southwest Arkansas.

People came from far and near, quitting jobs and homes to share in a new bonanza.

State Land Commissioner George W. Neal, a resident of Murfreesboro in those days, tells the story.

Excitement was high. People swarmed into Pike county from everywhere. Most of them had little money and no equipment for mining. They didn't care—they had come to gather diamonds. But the land where the gems were discovered was quickly taken up by corporations.

Undeterred the amateur prospectors continued to rush in. The town of Kimberly sprang up overnight. It had business houses, a bank and hastily thrown together residences.

Then came disillusionment. The newcomers' money gave out, productive land had been leased to the corporations which closely guarded it. Hopes dashed, the wealth seekers started back to their homes.

Kimberly is now a ghost village. The buildings are still there but it has fewer than 60 residents.

Neal recalled that land holders in the area staged candlelight diamond hunts at night.

"They used to advertise these hunts widely and people came from miles around," he said. "Everyone brought a candle and started out after paying a fee of a dollar. The only ones who made any money out of it so far as I know were the sponsors."

Dr. Branner said the Arkansas diamond is found in dikes of volcanic rock known as peridotite which closely resembles the material in which diamonds are found in South Africa. He said the strata was probably brought to the surface by explosions within the earth.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, Nov. 3, 1926.

Dr. J. T. Gruber, city milk and meat inspector, and his bride, the former Mrs. Sarah Burris of Galion, returned from a honeymoon trip to Philadelphia and other points in the east following their marriage in Galion Oct. 23.

It was announced that definite action on awarding of the contract for construction of the Harding Memorial would probably be taken Nov. 15 when Eric Fisher Wood and Henry Hornbostel of Pittsburgh, architects of the monument, would meet here with the executive committee of the Harding Memorial association.

Mrs. A. W. Gracely was hostess to the Round Table club at an all-day sewing and program meeting at her home on South Main street.

Mrs. Anna Salisbury was honor guest at a farewell party given by a party of friends and neighbors at her home on Park boulevard. She was to leave Saturday to spend the winter with her son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Salisbury, in Colombia, South America.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Nov. 3, 1916.

The Italian drive against Trieste was in full swing. Heavy losses were inflicted upon the Austro-Hungarian in the first stage of the new offensive. In the Rumanian theater of war, Austro-German forces made a new advance, capturing 300 of the enemy.

The home of Clem C. Smith on Girard avenue was badly damaged by fire at an early morning hour, forcing members of the family to flee partly clothed.

H. R. Sands, a representative of the bureau of municipal research of New York City, in a talk to Chamber of Commerce directors and city officials said that Marion, like many other Ohio cities, was in serious financial straits and getting deeper in debt every year. He suggested a reappraisement of real estate as a step toward solution of the problem.

Mrs. Charles Arons, 60, died at her home in Waldo.

All Eyes Turn Toward New York

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—Politicians will keep their eyes fixed election night on returns from New York. There is the weathervane. If the President wins it, you may go to bed. The result should be conclusive by midnight.

But if Landon should happen to win the state you will probably never get to bed. The election will be wide open until the last vote is announced.

What makes New York so important is not its electoral votes but the fact that no expert has been able to work out a practical winning combination for Landon without those 47 votes. Roosevelt can win without New York but Landon cannot.

Note

Once in a very similar situation the same election situation did not work. Then as now California was considered such a certainty that it did not seem to be worth while counting votes there. When Hughes in 1916 won New York announcements of his victory were made. But, next day, Wilson won California by about 4,000 and the announcements were reversed.

Analysis

A last minute check on the vital states has left even the experts at opposing headquarters writhing on the floor.

Consider Illinois for example. The official calculators at both headquarters use the Digest poll as a basis of their best calculations. They figure that the soundest estimate can be made by analyzing the percentage of gain for Landon over the Hoover vote and the percentage of loss for Roosevelt from his 1932 vote. Thus they eliminate some of the Digest error in polling more 1932 Republicans than Democrats.

On this basis they calculate the probable Illinois result as: Landon 1,651,189; Roosevelt 1,695,074, or a majority of about 43,000 for Roosevelt out of 3,300,000 votes.

As anyone can see this is reducing straw analysis to its proper level. But when such a system indicates anything less than a 50,000 majority it indicates nothing. So when most of the analysis now put Illinois in the category of probably Roosevelt they do so out of respect for the Chicago Kelly-Nash machine rather than from the figures which indicate only that the state is highly doubtful.

Estimates

The same system also gives the following results:

Massachusetts—Landon 807,707; Roosevelt 634,518.

Pennsylvania—Landon 1,617,790; Roosevelt 1,234,596.

New York—Roosevelt 2,352,447; Landon 1,129,821.

Ohio—Landon 1,325,893; Roosevelt 1,171,526.

Indiana—Roosevelt 760,332; Landon 750,319.

Michigan—Landon 825,721; Roosevelt 761,566.

Iowa—Roosevelt 494,562; Landon 474,111.

Kansas—Landon 393,155; Roosevelt 389,844.

Minnesota—Roosevelt 485,452; Landon 39[illegible].

Underestimated

The trouble is that these figures probably underestimate the Roosevelt total 2 or 3 per cent, because the Digest does not reach much below the telephone subscriber-automobile owner class.

Another serious defect is the fact that straw polling does not work out as accurately in populous centers as in the country districts. It is physically impossible to poll a city especially if a political machine is operating in it. Cross sections of sentiment just do not run with divisions as clear-cut as in rural communities.

Consequently these analyses should be taken only for what they are worth—an interesting indication.

Depression

Most amusing of the latter-day campaign stories is the one about the newsman whose girl friend works for the government. She received a letter inviting a contribution without mentioning any figure. The newsman disguised himself as a government employe merely by washing his face and leaving his hat at home. He called upon an assistant treasurer here, and asked what contribution should be made. The same assistant told him, "Three per cent."

"That's all I wanted to know," said the young man, bowing himself out.

Bucket Brigade

The government will resume business Wednesday. It has been in adjournment for about six weeks. Everybody in the departments has been out campaigning for Roosevelt.

The exodus from the agriculture department was so great that the President appointed the weather bureau chief as acting secretary of agriculture a couple of weeks ago. Every one above the weather man was out campaigning.

Likewise the acting secretary of the interior is the comparatively lowly chief of the geological survey.

Some McIntyre Observations

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—There is a silver haired type of clerk in New York who dignifies the calling of salesmanship. So much so that what many regard as a lesser occupational niche takes on an aristocratic professional air—like the law, medicine or pulpit.

This clerkly contingent is thinning but they are still to be found, I think especially at Tiffany's and other established silversmiths, linen shops, art galleries and department stores. The grocery shop of Charles is also an example of austerity in the calling.

To some these Lloyd George looking oldsters might be called putterers. They are stooped and have none of the lickety split of the modern modern exponent. They speak with the labial softness of the gently deaf, never force a sale and are so willing to show everything.

Any number are deacons in their suburban churches. They have sent their children through first class colleges and finishing schools. In a small way they are often book and art collectors and there's scarcely one that does not indulge a sundown meditation in his garden.

Lawyers who protect straying spouses have their hands full with a new blackmail dodge—the spurious diary. Since the crepe de Chine ladies were ham-strung by abolishment of the heart balm racket they have been wrinkling brows on what next. Anyone may write a diary containing all sorts of comic strip capers and by daily dates give it the smack of authenticity. Of course, the idea is one of pure threat. Unless the sap puts dough on the line the diary will, it is intimated, be turned over to newspapers that relish that type of scandal. Several big shakedowns have been whispered.

Major Bowes to my notion has mastered more than almost any other entertainer of the period the technique of informality. It looks so easy but is a studied art, depending largely on the trick of timing. Bowes in this seemingly casual offhandedness makes everything he has to say sound newly minted. Will Rogers had the same gift. The approach is hesitant and all of a sudden the golden nugget is revealed by a quick swing of the pick.

Despoliation of Central Park continues. The north end seems entirely taken over by hoodlums, black and white and the middle and southerly sections grow increasingly shabby. Promenaders who love beauty and solace have almost entirely abandoned the breathing space so close to the city's heart. Sprawlers are permitted to lie about in shirtless, sockless and shoeless disarray. Motorists are often targets for hurled mud, stones and debris. It has much of the rowdiness of the old Five Points down town. There have been any number of holdups and sluggings in unguarded meanders in the past year. Most automobilists scoot through as something they wish to leave quickly behind.

Winston Churchill, diplomatist and orator, never went beyond grade school and has a defective speech.

Election Cos

Expense Too High Gener Survey Shows.

By DAVID M. KANE.

THROUGHOUT the Un States there is little un in state or local election procedures, except most cost too much, most of them badly in need of reform to questionable practices.

This is true despite the phenomenal progress has made in recent years in ing election machinery communities have taken steps forward, but oth behind their machinery ete and full of legal loopho gregarious ballot-stuffing

Costly Procedure

Inefficiency and pa ding in elections can to staggering total low.

There is little uniformity naming subordinate officials der election boards which quently leads merely to the ployment of poorly qualified individuals in return for "prec" chores.

Typical Costs

Few persons realize the simple act of casting a ballot a surprising sum, the amount which depends upon the which politics controls the setup. The "per vote" average entire state of Ohio was 57 substantially less than in the four cities named.

PATTERN 4159

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, Nov. 3

A VERY active and enterprising day is presaged from the lively lunar aspects. The forces and faculties will be under rather high tension in the direction of new undertakings, especially under the encouragement and support of mergers, rings, secret bodies or diplomatic or political circles. Be careful in connection with letters, writings or documents. In private affairs there are indications of much rejoicing and festivity.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very lively and enterprising year, particularly in putting over important projects with the aid and support of mergers, combines, secret societies or political or diplomatic interests. Be watchful in connections with letters, writings and contracts. Purely private affiliations show much general merriment and sociability. There may be a small gain through speculation.

A child born on this day may be energetic, resourceful and may win its way through strategy, tact, diplomacy or politics. It may be jovial and popular because of its bright wit.
